

Using a learning timetable or planner

Using a timetable or an organiser can help you schedule out your time effectively, whilst also motivating yourself by ticking off tasks you have completed. Below are some free, printable templates that you can use – choose the one you feel will work for you best.

Other options are available on places such as Pinterest or you could even design your own online or by hand so that you create a personalised template which works for you.

Here are some free, pre-made templates you can use straight away. Some of these include to-do-lists and scheduling your free time around school:

<http://www.shiningmom.com/free-printable-kids-planner/>

<https://emmastudies.com/>

<https://bestlettertemplate.com/study-planner/>

<https://clueylearning.com.au/study-timetable-planner/>

<https://www.papertraildesign.com/monthly-planner-template-printable-planner-pages/>

Here are some websites where you can design your own planner and print it for free:

<https://www.twinkl.co.uk/resource/t2-e-2343-design-your-own-school-timetable-activity-sheet>

<https://www.icslearn.co.uk/blog/posts/2019/december/create-your-own-printable-study-planner-and-calendar-2020/>

<https://www.canva.com/create/weekly-schedules/>

Here are some apps you can use to plan your time using your phone or another device:

<https://www.makeuseof.com/tag/android-phone-mastery/>

<https://apps.apple.com/gb/app/my-study-life-school-planner/id910639339>

<https://techigem.com/study-planner-apps/>

<https://www.topuniversities.com/blog/best-time-management-apps-students>