How Start will help you

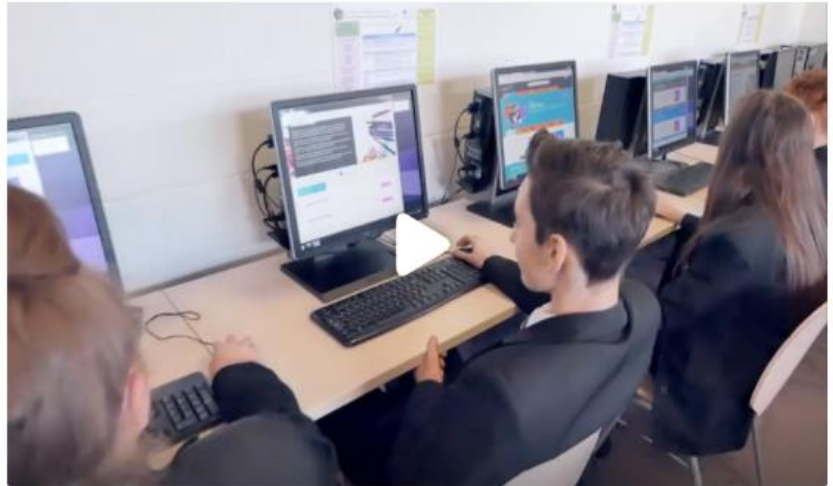

As you use Start, the data we collect is used to help you to think about which subjects to study and the kind of jobs you'd like to do when you finish school.

The more you use Start, the more helpful it will be in guiding you through decisions about your future – it will get to know you, and suggest relevant areas for you to explore further.

This information is stored securely in your own password protected area and we will only share it with your teachers and careers advisers whose job it is to support you on your journey through school. We've made a short video to explain what type of information is collected and what we do with it to help you.

If you wish to understand this in more detail, you can read our Privacy Policy.
